As we each navigate the changes and challenges that 2021 presented, I am so encouraged by the progress that continues to be made in the anti-trafficking movement. We witnessed renewed efforts across the globe, greater accountability for companies that have allowed forced labor in their supply chains, along with increased and well-deserved funding opportunities for those with lived-experience.

At United Against Slavery, we entered 2021 with the greatest level of collaboration than we have ever sought before. The impacts of Covid, social injustices, income disparities...all of these impacted vulnerable populations and beckoned an even greater need for collaboration in our research and data collection efforts.

As I reflect upon the movement, I stand amazed at the continued passion and dedication made by activists in this fight. Combating human trafficking is not for the faint of heart, and as stakeholders ourselves, we understand this commitment. Please remember, that even when your hard work doesn’t seem to have the impact you desire right now...just know that good can come from your efforts. When you get tired and weary...take a moment to remember your “why?” This is a recurring message that I am hearing in different walks of life right now...and we all need that reminder throughout this journey. Take time for yourself to recharge and be strengthened from the inside out.

We believe in You! May our collaborative efforts help to improve counter trafficking work, to help victims and survivors around the globe, and those who work on their behalf. So, we continue Onward.

WHAT IS THE NATIONAL OUTREACH SURVEY?

The National Outreach Survey (NOS) is a unique research and data collection method to identify and document what is and is not working on the frontlines among more than 20 stakeholder groups. It utilizes a Collaborative Research Model to confirm many successes and recommendations for improvement, from those who know best...stakeholders on the frontlines. Each large-scale NOS requires 18-24 months to complete and should be repeated every 2-3 years to help measure benchmarks and progress.

HOW DO WE MEASURE SUCCESS?

   Remain Survivor-Informed
   We are survivor-informed throughout our work, with a diverse group of labor and/or sex trafficking survivors, not just as Researchers and Advisors but also as a Board Member.

   Increase Collaboration
   Collaboration is at the core of our work. None of us have all the answers. We need each other.

3.
   Engage Frontline Workers
   Each National Outreach Survey is designed to reach frontline workers to help inform and improve counter trafficking efforts.

4.
   Disseminate Anonymized Data
   We are committed to publishing our anonymized data to the public-at-large to encourage data driven decisions to be made.

5.
   Pursue Positive Outcomes
   By using our NOS data, we want to equip and empower survivors, nonprofits, legislators, philanthropist, and frontline workers to improve counter trafficking work.
In one of our interviews with a Survivor Leader, he shared that transportation is really the first point of intervention that can occur for a victim of human trafficking.
In 2020, United Against Slavery was awarded the first-ever USDOT Combating Human Trafficking in Transportation Impact Award. From this award, UAS launched the 2021 National Outreach Survey for Transportation (NOST) to reach three cohorts: transportation industry, labor and sex trafficking survivors, and service providers.

Team Building
Through UAS’ Collaborative Research Team model, more than 100 field experts were engaged to strengthen the NOST outcomes.

First Launch
The first launch reached frontline workers in multiple modes of transportation. Transportation companies across the United States distributed a custom online survey link to their employees/members.

Second Launch
The Transportation Security Administration (TSA) and Hartsfield-Jackson International Airport (ATL) participated as Oversight Agencies to distribute the NOST. We reached labor and sex trafficking survivors and multiple service providers to take the NOST. Respondents from the United States, Canada, Brazil, and Nigeria participated.

NOST Concludes
The first National Outreach Survey for Transportation concluded at the beginning of December. Post data collection efforts began to code and clean the data.
OUR COLLABORATIVE RESEARCH MODEL

SENIOR TEAM
The NOST Senior Research team comprises eight members, including researchers, a statistician, government advisor, and a communications director.

SURVIVOR LEADER ADVISORY COUNCIL (SLAC)
The SLAC team (of five) includes diverse leadership, including those with lived experience from labor and/or sex trafficking, with different races, genders/identities, disabilities, and Indigenous populations.

TRANSPORTATION UNIVERSITIES/CENTERS
There are eight Transportation Universities and/or Transportation Centers that participated in the NOST, within the United States and Brazil.

OVERSIGHT AGENCIES
Over 60 transportation companies and nonprofits came together to distribute the NOST to their employees and members, or to support the collaborative efforts.

WORKING GROUP
The NOST comprises five Working Groups with 44 members, including academics, researchers, field experts, and those with lived experience.
NUMBERS IN ACTION

QUICK FACTS

• The first-ever NOST has global Institutional Review Board (IRB) approval.

• We collaborated with field experts in the United States, Brazil, The Netherlands, Canada, and Nigeria.

• We engaged U.S. Embassy’s in multiple countries to make them aware of our frontline data collection efforts in their country.

We had the highest level of respondents in each of the following individual categories:

4,000+ Survey Respondents

1. AVIATION: 47%
2. STATE DOTs: 19%
3. LAW ENFORCEMENT: 8%

Senior UAS Leadership joined the USDOT and panelist to speak before the 21 member economies in the Asia-Pacific Economic Cooperation (APEC), as part of the Transportation Working Group.
OUTCOMES

We believe that every mode of transportation and the anti-trafficking community can leverage frontline data collection and predictive analysis to:

- Inform awareness and training programs
- Improve enforcement and preventative actions
- Focus legislation
- Improve survivor resource allocation to drive more effective outcomes over the next decade
FINANCIAL OVERVIEW

OVERCOMING THE LIMITATIONS

Since our inception in late 2014, we have spent less than $100,000 for more than seven years of work. As we seek funding to include paid staff and scale the National Outreach Survey to reach larger frontline populations in different geographical locations...our United Against Slavery Senior Team, Advisory Team, and Board of Directors are proud of everything we have accomplished thus far but we know that our work is only beginning. We recognize the importance of the NOS methods and its potential impact on anti-trafficking work across the globe.

QUICK FACTS

Volunteers

Thousands of volunteer hours have been contributed by the UAS team and external partners.

Staff

Currently, UAS does not have any salaried nor hourly staff.

Fiscal Responsibility

A financial report is sent to UAS leadership every month, even if there are no monthly expenses, to ensure transparency and accountability.

Scalability

- Our CFO has managed almost $1B.
- UAS has a multi-million dollar line-item budget, ready to scale UAS.

Revenue / Expenses

Our frontline data can help the anti-trafficking community. If you become aware of funding in the United States or globally, that may support a future National Outreach Survey, please let us know. You can email our CEO, Christi Wigle, directly or to research@unitedagainstslavery.org. There are opportunities to collaborate on funding even as we seek stand-alone funding for UAS.
